

$4,000 MURDER NOTE GIVEN BY FORNEY TO WAITER IS FOUND

It Stipulated That Money Was to Be Paid When Schneider Was "Disposed Of."

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 28.—The police of this city to-day came into possession of a bit of paper which, they believe, disposes finally of any doubt that Thomas G. Forney was the chief plotter against the life of Franklin Schneider, his millionaire father-in-law, and that George McHenry, the Washington waiter upon whom young Forney has striven to saddle the blame, was merely the young lawyer's hireling.

The paper was a promissory note said to have been found by the Washington, D. C., police among papers in McHenry's room in a Washington boarding house and sent here by Superintendent of Police Puhman of Washington. It was made out to McHenry, carried the signature of Forney and stipulated that the waiter was to receive $4,000 when he had "disposed of" Schneider. Forney first told the police about the note and McHenry told them where it would be found in Washington.

McHenry, explaining his possession of the note, said that he was badly in need of money when Harry Carlisle, a chauffeur, arrested at Atlantic City, told him that he "had a bit of business" for him. Forney and he got together, he said, struck an agreement with $4,000 and expenses as the price, planned and carried out the crime, he said, and added that there never was any intention to retreat.

WOMAN ON FIRE LEAPS INTO RIVER

Husband of Mrs. Cahill Plunges
From Barge After Her and Both
Are in Hospital.

While Capt. William Cahill of the coal barge Plymouth, moored at the foot of East Ninety-fourth Street, and his wife, Ella, were entertaining friends aboard at 1:30 o'clock this morning, a table was accidentally overturned.

A lighted lamp fell into Mrs. Cahill's lap, setting fire to her dress. With a scream she ran from the cabin and plunged into the river. Cahill followed, and though swept against a pile by the tide and his head cut, caught and supported his wife. The shouts of others on the barge brought two policemen who threw a rope to Cahill and drew him and his wife to the pier. Both were sent to Bellevue, the wife in a critical condition. The fire on the barge did $50 damage.

It is supposed that Conley and some of the crew got a breath of fresh air before going to his aunt's apartment.

Harvard Adonis, Voted by Boston "Most Beautiful Man in the World"

Youth Is Peeved and Says He Simply Wants to Be Called a Man.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 28.—William Alfred Williams, Harvard '15, whom conservative Boston folk have pronounced "the most beautiful man in the world," wasn't at all happy to-day over the laurels thus cast at his feet.

"Pshaw!" he exclaimed. "Beautiful? Absurd! I'm a man, you see. How can a man be called 'beautiful.' Might as well call a mushroom a peony, or a Jimson weed a palm. All I want is to be let alone."

Williams won his title of "Modern Adonis" when he appeared at the recent outdoor pageants near Boston. He danced carelessly, and his esthetic bearing won murmurs of admiration from Boston folk.

"Perfectly sublime," they said. Experts on beauty who attended the pageant said the only one to compare to him is Paul Swan, a New York dancer. But Williams, they added, out-swans Swan for grace and appearance. His profile is said to be a perfect masculine type.

Williams hails from Pittsburgh.

It grants full suffrage to Iceland's women, and was passed by the Parliament of Iceland last year. Icelandic women over twenty-five years of age won the Parliamentary suffrage in 1914.

Joseph Fitzpatrick, twenty-five, of No. 235 West Sixty-fifth Street, sustained lacerations of the arms and face; John Flynn, twenty-seven, of No. 211 West Sixty-seventh Street, abrasions of the knees and forehead, and Shaw and the other two men received scratches.

A surgeon from the Norwegian Hospital attended Flynn and Fitzpatrick.
